Group Identity

> Tatses Press was launched in the fall of 2023, when the foundations were laid for a printing initiative, as we felt that there was a huge need for a radical printing venture based on self-organization, solidarity, and autonomy, as a counter to engaging with practices that are based in surplus value, exploitation as well as the commercial, mainstream and dominant culture.
> Printing is indeed a vital component in both the radical political movement, the DIY scene and various subcultures, but also a basic tool of personal and collective expression, and therefore, its liberation from the aforementioned shackles is important.[1)]
